TO GUARD POLICYHOLDERS.

IN LETTER TO RYAN.

Declares That the Equitable's Plight a Warning to Other Insurance Companies-Morton's First Official Act a Letter to All Agents.

Thomas F. Ryan yesterday made public Grover Cleveland's letter to him in which Mr. Cleveland consents to serve as a trustee of the Hyde Equitable stock bought by the Ryan policyholders' group. Here it is: "PRINCETON, June 10, 1905.

. Thomas F. Ryan, Esq. DEAR SIR: I have this morning received your letter asking me to act as one of the three trustees to hold the stock of the Equitable Life Assurance Society which has lately been acquired by you and certain associates and to use the voting power of such stock in the selection of directors of said society. "After a little reflection I have determined I ought to accept this service. I tion that as far as the trustees are to be vested with discretion in the selection of frectors they are to be absolutely free and undisturbed in the exercise of their judgment, and that so far as they are to act formally in voting for the directors con-ceded to policyholders a fair and un-coubted expression of policyholding choice will be forthcoming.

The very general anxiety aroused by the recent unhappy dissensions in the management of the Equitable society furnishes proof of the near relationship of our people to life insurance. These dissensions have not only injured the fair tame of the company immediately affected, but have invaried recently fair. but have impaired popular faith and confidence in the security of life insurance itself as a provision for those who in thousands of cases would be otherwise helpless against the afflictive visitations of fate.

"The character of this business is such "The character of this business is such that those who manage and direct it are charged with a grave trust for those who necessarily must rely upon their fidelity. In these circumstances they have no right to regard the places they hold as ornamental, but rather as positions of work and duty and watchfulness. Above all things, they have no right to deal with the interests entrusted to them in such a way as to subserve or become confused or complicated with their personal transactions or ventures.

"While the hope that I might aid in improving the plight of the Equitable society has led me to accept the trusteeship you tender. I cannot rid myself of the beief that what has overtaken this company is liable to happen to other insurance companies and fiduciary organizations as long as lax ideas of responsibility of trust are tolerated by our people. The high pressure of speculation, the madness of inordinate business scheming and the chances taken business scheming and the chances taken in new and uncertain enterprises are con-stantly present temptations, too often successful, in leading managers and directors away from scrupulous loyalty and fidelity to the interests of others confided to their

to the interests of others confided to their care.

"We can better afford to slacken our pace than to abandon our old, simple American standards of honesty, and we shall be safer it we regain our old habit of looking at the appropriation to personal uses of property and interests held in trust in the same light as other forms of stealing. Yours very truly, GROVER CLEVELAND."

This is the reply Mr. Ryan sent vesterday:

Superintendent of Insurance Francis

Superintendent of Insurance Francis Hendricks, it was announced yesterday, has finished his examination of the Equitable officers and directors, and will make his report the latter part of this week.

Paul Morton is coming here on Wednesday to attend a meeting of the executive committee. His first official act as chairman of the directors was the sending out yesterday of a letter to Equitable agents in which he said:

which he said:

To the Agency Force of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States.

GENTLEMEN: On the 9th of June the board of directors of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States of the Equitable Life
Assurance Society of the United States of the Society of the United States of the Individual of the departments and officers of the society, subject to the control of the board of directors and amended the by-laws to correspond.

The directors of the society did me the honor of electing me to this office, also electing me a member of their board. I accepted the chairmanship on condition that I should have a free hand as to measures and men. As a response to this, the chief executive officers of the society voluntarily placed their resignations in my larily placed their resignations in my hands to be acted upon or not hereafter, in accordance with what might appear to be the best interests of the society and its policyholders. * * *

policyholders. * * *

The Equitable society has been severely The Equitable society has been severely tested and the ordeal has revealed to the world its strength and prosperity with an emphasis which could never have been shown as significantly by any ordinary method of demonstration. The fears of timid policyholders have been aroused and many have been alarmed by exaggreated or misleading newspaper articles. But it is astonishing that the increase in lapses has been so small. The steadfastness of the body of the society's policyholders under the strain to which they have been subjected has been as remarkable as it has been gratifying. All this furnishes the highest tribute to the excellence of the society's condition and to the ence of the society's condition and to the lence of the society's condition and to the zeal and loyalty of its agents.

"The field force of the society is to be congratulated on what is believed to be the complete solution of the difficulties which have temporarily hampered them and arrested their progress in competing for business. You will be kept thoroughly bosted in reference to future developments.

"Knowing that every agent is doing everything in his power to take care of the business already on the books, I need not dwell on that point. Every effort will be made to develop the business along sound lines for the benefit of policyholders and agents alike, and I pledge you my most cordial cooperation in carrying on this work. Yery sincerely yours,

"PAUL MORTON,"

Intervening petitions were filed in the United States Circuit Court yesterday by nine Equitable policyholders, whose insurance aggregates $47,000. They seek to join the suit of J. Willcox Brown of Baltimore, Md., against the Equitable to lety. The Brown suit was instituted about three weeks ago in the name of himself "and other policyholders." It complained that the surplus of the society had not been divided among the policyholders, as was proper, and asked that a receiver for the surplus be appointed and that an accounting he had.

Togo has settled that and she's bound back after two years of exile."

There is a new national'ty in the servant supply. Poles have recently come in demand, and one of the national benevolent societies has opened an office at which they are to be hired. The experiment has so far proved a success. The servants are said to be industrious and strong and soon learn American ways of life. Those who remain may be exceeded to depart at any minute, and successors who come to fill places make it understood that they are going to leave at the first opportunity for all summer work. The hardest period of the year for the family without a summer home comes in these spring months when servants are all but impossible to keep.

Then when I reach home I write to the shop, saying that I have left my umbrella there and that I have the check, and they send it up to me, all nicely wrapped in tissue paper and placed in a box—so that, besides the pleasure of not carrying an umbrella in clear weather I have the pleas re of making myself believe that I have a new one."

"WISTARIA GROVE" OPENS.

New Burlesque, "When We Are Forty-

one," Has Some Good Songs. Last night was the opening of the New York Theatre roof garden. Decorated in arches and sprays of wistaria, the new "Wistaria Grove," as it is called, is a pretty spectacle. A large house greeted "When We Are Forty-one," which the program says is "an Oslerized burlesque in two doses."

The first of its two scenes is in front of Rector's, the other in Claremont, Riverside Drive. There isn't much plot, but lots side Drive. There isn't much plot, but lots of music and songs. One song, "Up and Down the Boardwalk," sung by Emma Carus, caught the audience immediately and received many encores.

The first dose, in front of Rector's, discovers syveral burlesques of well known men disdussing the simple life.

The first song of the piece, "Write to Marian the Maid," sung by Nella Webb, was one of the hits of the evening. Elsie Janis and Emma Carus both contribute songs in this scene also. Miss Janis's imitations were one of the features of the piece.

The scene ends with the entire party from Rector's leaving in a coach for Claremont with Harry Bulger as Dr. Hosfer trailing behind on foot. While the scene is changed the trip to Claremont is shown by moving pictures.

The second scene is made up almost entirely of songs and choruses. Nellie Daly and Johnny McVeigh scored with their dance in "Meet Me Under the Wistaria."

Another novelty of the night was the "Girl with the Red Domino." The act consists of a dance by the woman in the red domino, surrounded by mirrors behind which girls in white flowing robes are also seen dancing.

SAID TO HAVE BEEN PROMISED BY CULVER TO IRENE MAYER.

Now Another Woman Is Appointed Guardian of Bessie Mayer Culver, the Baby to Sue for the Money-Agreement to Pay It Is Described as Verbal.

Supreme Court Justice Clarke signed yesterday an order appointing Mrs.

Josephine Pendrell of Woodmere, L. I., legal guardian for Bessie Mayer Culver, in an action which it is proposed to bring in the child's name against Henry K. Culver to recover $50,000. The papers filed with the order allege that Mr. Culver agreed before the child was born to settle that sum.

In her application to be appointed guardian for the child Mrs. Pendrell says that at various times in 1890 and 1900, more particularly on Nov. 15, 1899, Jan. 12, 1900, and Feb. 14, 1900, Henry K. Culver entered into a verbal agreement with Irene Mayer providing that if she would nurture, cherish and educate the child, for four years from the date of its birth, which occurred on Jan. 12, 1900, he would settle $50,000 on the infant on Jan. 12, 1904. Little Bessie was five years old on Jan. 12 last, but Culver, it is alleged, has made no such settlement.

Meanwhile, during the past five years, Irene Mayer has been maintaining the child at Mrs. Pendrell's home, and has been paying all the expenses of such main tenance. Mrs. Mayer is in California at present and Mrs. Pendrell says that she is the infant's next friend for the purposes of this litigation. Henry K. Culver has not yet appeared in the action. Frank J. Griffin is counsel for Mrs. Pendrell. He was not visible yesterday. The only Henry K. Culver in the New York directory says he never heard of the woman, Irene Ma er, or the child and never settled $50,000 on anybody.

Dr. William Oster left with his pub-lishers a new volume of essays entitled "The Fixed Period," which will be issued early in the autumn. Mr. Howells's reflections in the "Easy Chair" are occupied with Dr. Osler's idea of the age limit of man's usefulness, an idea which, according to Mr. Howells, is not an original one, but rather a reflection of Anthony Trollope's "fantastic notion" of a "college into which men retired at 60 for a year's contemplation before a peaceful departure by chloroform." Mr. Howells cites among many examples of famous men whose great achievements were not undertaken until past 4) men like Casar and Dante. Michael Angelo and Petrarch, Cromwell, Rights Reserved. who gave England her first European supremacy when he was between 5) and 6), and Grant, who made a complete failure of life through his fifteen golden years of plenty and did not win his great victories until he was well in the middle of life. Mr. Howells also suggests that if the great affairs of the world are to be turned over to the young men all the absorbing business of dances and dinners, picnics and plays, afternoon teas, sports and "the whole order of incidents which are summed up in the name of flirtation" should be relegated to the useless men of sixty and thus "give the young people a chance to show what
